JAPAN GOING TO HOLD ON IN SIBERIA TO SUMMER

Foreign Office Issues Statement To Excuse Sending Troops

MERELY A RELIEF

Conditions Are Such As To Necessitate Sitting Tight

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)
Tokio, December 13.—A meeting of the Advisory Council received reports today that indicate the Chita Government is adopting a more conciliatory attitude.

This does not detract from the official announcement that the Japanese War Office is making its intention to send a partial relief for the Siberian expedition. This definitely indicates that Japan does not intend to evacuate for some months.

The Foreign Office has issued an explanatory statement stressing the fact that this new shipment of troops is not a reinforcement but merely a relief for some of the troops now on that station.

This clears out your correspondent's previously expressed conviction that Japan does not intend to evacuate Siberia before summer. This relief is being carried out by the eighth division which is replacing a portion of the eleventh now occupying Vladivostok and adjoining regions.

The Foreign Office reiterates the instability of the political situation in Siberia and danger to residents and traffic, also the insurance to the Korean frontier, all of which compel Tokyo to maintain the expedition there.

The official pronouncement states: "The Japanese Government will withdraw its troops immediately in the event that general security is assured in Siberia against the dangers indicated."

RED LIGHT STOPS CHANG; HELD UP BY TSAO TO DINE

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, Dec. 13.—Immediately after his arrival here from Mukden last night, Chang Tso-lin, accompanied by General Chang Ching-hui, who welcomed the former at the Eastern Station here, started for Peking. But Tso-lin, Civil Governor of Chihli, who had proceeded to the Western Station, caused a red light to be put out when the train with Chang Tso-lin aboard approached the station in question and stopped it.

The Civil Governor at length prevailed upon Chang Tso-lin to get off the train and to attend a dinner-party. The Western Station was watched very strictly all the night through. The Manchurian war-lord, however, did not leave here for the capital last night.

Premier Chin, accompanied by 30 body-guards, came this morning at 11 o'clock to pay his respects to Chang Tso-lin.

Peking, Dec. 13.—The Bank of Communications here having found it difficult to maintain itself any longer, it has decided to borrow $4,000,000 from Chang Tso-lin. The conditions and terms of the loan are not yet ascertained.

BLANK WALLS GREET PRINCE IN ALLAHABAD

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 12.—Reuter's special correspondent with the Prince of Wales telegraphs that the Prince paid an informal visit of a few hours to Allahabad today. He alighted at the small adjoining station of Prayag and motored through the city. A hartal had been proclaimed, truth compels the admission, with complete success, and save for groups of Europeans and occasional mere handouts of the upper class natives, the well-decorated streets of this city of 150,000 were practically deserted. All traffic was suspended.

The demonstration was of a quite passive character and the Prince's program was carried out in its entirety without incident. This included a visit to the University, the reception of a loyal address in the pretty Shaniann Government House, inspection of the Courts of Justice and a polo match in the afternoon.

Dr. Williams Advocates Leaving Chinese To Work Out The Country's Problem

Says At Banquet Foreign Nations Should Only Give Suggestions And Helpful Advice

Dr. Walter Williams had another busy day here yesterday, having visited two cotton mills at Woosung and the Shanghai Baptist College in the morning, and being entertained at tiffin at the Carlton Cafe, with three receptions following—given by the Sin Wan Pao, the Shih Pao, and the Shanghai Newspapermen's Club—and a banquet given last night under the auspices of the Association of the Chinese Newspapers of Shanghai. Dr. Williams is due to sail this morning by the Golden State, leaving the China Merchants' Lower Wharf at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Williams had something practical and appropriate to say at each of the afternoon functions. He assured the Sin Wan Pao that its reputation for news and apt editorial comment was eminently deserved and spoke of the abundant opportunities that await journalists in the field of China. He praised the head of the Shih Pao for the remarkable work done by the Eastern Times Publishing Co. in the reproduction of ancient paintings and for carrying features in the Shih Pao to meet the educational needs of students. To the members of the Shanghai Newspapermen's Club, of which he became by unanimous vote an honorary member, he suggested the three elements that make for good reporting—truth, interest and helpfulness.

MANY AT BANQUET

The banquet given under the auspices of the Association of the Chinese Newspapers of Shanghai at the Yih Ping Shau Hotel was the occasion of a large gathering of newspapermen, educationists and professional men who met to do honor to Dr. Williams and his party. The guests included representatives of the foreign press of Shanghai.

The program included musical items rendered by the orchestra of the Dramatic and Musical School established by Chang Chien, the industrial leader of Nantunghow, and a piano entertainment by Miss Yu Tse-lin, a graduate of McTear School.

The address of welcome was read by Mr. Wang Han-chi, General Manager of the Sin Wan Pao. He referred to the all-round reconstructive influence of the press and suggested that the ideal of service for humanity would make men of all races "brethren of the four seas." Dr. Williams was asked to bear in mind that China's transitional troubles are inevitable in the process of the evolution of democratic government and was asked to use his efforts to help cement the bonds of co-operation and cordiality between China and America by promoting the spirit of sympathetic discussion of China's problems in foreign journals, some of which appear to expect China to be abreast of the Powers without going through the necessary preliminary period.

STRESSES CO-OPERATION

Dr. Williams in the course of his response referred to the traditional friendship existing between China and America and emphasized the great possibilities of developing this friendship and goodwill when the sympathy of American journalists is secured in full measure. He called upon his fellow-journalists in China to make known China's conditions so the world may see that although there may be militarist strife or political troubles, the forces of steady national progress are constantly at work, and the energies of the people are being devoted to the achievement of better and higher things for the country.

He recommended the policy of leaving the Chinese to work out their own salvation by the means they themselves choose and said he believed that foreign nations should not go further than the point of offering suggestions and helpful advice. He asked the audience to join in the campaign of making journalism instrumental in doing good to mankind and quoted a motto used in the College of Journalism at the University of Missouri—"The supreme law of journalism is service to the whole people."

Dr. Williams, it is expected, will visit China again next winter and will deliver a series of lectures on journalism in the Government University at Peking and the Southeastern University at Nanking.

CRITICISES PROPAGANDA

Criticism of the tendency of governments to make use of newspapers for the dissemination of propaganda was voiced yesterday by Dr. Williams at the tiffin given in his honor by the American University Club and the Pan-Pacific Association. Mr. O. M. Green, Editor of the North China Daily News presided at the affair and gave an introductory address. A third speaker was Dean William L. Russell of the College of Education of the University of Iowa who spoke on "Why People Can't Read."

Don't Bite 20-Cent Pieces, They May Wreck Your Teeth

A wonderfully compact and alluringly intriguing sort of bomb has been evolved by some local inventor, according to the Chinese press.

The new explosive is of the semblance and size of an ordinary new-minted twenty-cent piece, the vane sets forth, and is supposed very detrimental to anything within a wide radius when tossed against something hard. It is silvered over and bears the facsimile of the late Yuan Shih-kai on one face, and is known as the "vest pocket bomb."

The office cynic interprets this as propaganda by some slick counterfeiting establishment which wishes to avoid having its output too carefully tested.

Pheasant Brighter Than Childhood Fancy Paints

By Elsie McCormick

Back in the era when we were still singing, "Good Morning, Merry Sunshine" to the teacher every day, we had an idea that pheasants were birds that lived in the country and always wore wooden shoes. The disappointment we felt when somebody showed us a pheasant at the aviary and careful investigation proved that its toes were unshod was as keen as when we learned that cold cream and ice-cream were not related.

Our later acquaintance with pheasants was confined to remarks in novels about tiffins at the Waldorf-Astoria, which were described in that part of the story when the heroine finds out that the villain's intentions aren't all they ought to be. We also knew of a tune which we understood was called "Poet and Pheasant," though we didn't know how a poet could afford one, unless he was the kind of poet who writes breakfast food and canned soup rhymes. The wild music that occurs in the piece was taken by us as symbolizing the disagreement of the pheasant with the poet.

At any rate, if the American Oriental Game Company continues to thrive, pheasants will some day be as common in the United States as Gideon Society Bibles in commercial hotels. In addition to serving as a background for Number 6 shot, these particular pheasants will also be gifted in reading laundry-marks and will have decided opinions on the Shantung issue. Mr. A. J. Park has just arrived in Shanghai with the idea of importing a few thousand native pheasants to America, where they will be distributed among state game farms and turned loose later to serve as gun-shot fodder for amateur hunters.

MISLEADING, AIN'T IT? When we first heard of the American Oriental Game Company, we thought it had some-

PRESS OF WORLD LOUD IN PRAISE OF STEP TO KEEP PEACE IN PACIFIC

Quadruple Agreement's Text Shows Desire To Avoid Controversy And Permit Joint Conferences Looking To Adjustment When Any Untoward Incident May Arise To Ruffle Nations.

SEN. LODGE EXPOUNDS PROVISIONS

Cancels Anglo-Jap Pact—Yap Question Part Of Agreement And Permits Both Nations To Use Island's Cables—Tokio Still Wants Mutsu Included

Events are moving fast at the Disarmament Conference and yesterday's cables brought the full text of the Quadruple Agreement which was reported to have been slated for signature at 11 o'clock. The press of the world, almost without exception has rallied to the support of this agreement as making for world peace as has no other document in recent history.

Japan is reported to have agreed to the 60 percent navy ratio as originally proposed by Secretary Hughes with the one request that she be allowed to keep the first-line warship Mutsu.

Japan and America also are reported to have come to an agreement which will settle the controversy over the cable-station on the Island of Yap by permitting free and unrestricted occupancy of the island by both nations, Japan agreeing to maintain a police force there.

Japan Asks Only Mutsu Added To 60 Percent Navy Ratio

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Tokio, Dec. 13.—Japan is now ready to accept Secretary Hughes' disarmament program with at least one important modification which is the inclusion of the Mutsu. Competent authorities state that such was the substance of the instructions cabled Admiral Baron Kato tonight following three important deliberations on the naval ratio question held in Tokio today.

It is understood that Japan has definitely given up its demand for a 70 percent contingent and is accepting 60 with the "request" that the Mutsu be retained. The three meetings that were held included that of the Naval Council, with the highest officers of the service in attendance, followed by a Cabinet session at the Imperial Palace at which it was decided to leave the final decision for the diplomatic advisory council which met this afternoon.

The decision said to be practically as above was sent Kato following the third meeting. The Japanese press says that Count Uchida, the foreign minister, reported to the cabinet regarding Baron Kato's request for further instructions as to the Government's definite stand on the Naval question.

Count Uchida said that the position of the Japanese delegation at Washington was weakened by the warm support given by Great Britain to America's stand, which necessitated a revision of the Japanese position.

The press intimates that the feeling of the cabinet is against unqualified acceptance of Secretary Hughes' scheme and submitted reservations for the advisory council's final decision, the chief of which was the inclusion of the Mutsu. Some papers also believe that dismantling of Pacific fortifications is asked as a return concession for the acceptance by Japan of the 60 percent ratio.

The Japanese press is showing an unconciliatory attitude on the navy issue although taking for granted Japan's final surrender. Many references are made to America's "arbitrary attitude" and at least two are pleading that Japan quit the Conference just as Italy did at Paris.

Full Text Of Pact Published

(Special To The China Press)

Department of State, December 10.—At the fourth Plenary Session of the Conference on the Limitation of Armaments held today, Senator Lodge made public the following draft of a treaty and accompanying reservations:

The United States of America, the British Empire, France and Japan, with a view to the preservation of the general peace and the maintenance of their insular possessions and insular dominions in the region of the Pacific Ocean have determined to conclude a treaty to this effect and have appointed as their plenipotentiaries the President of the United States; His Majesty the King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the seas; Emperor of India, and for the Dominion of Canada, for the Commonwealth of Australia, for the Dominion of New Zealand and for India; the President of the French Republic and His Majesty, the Emperor of Japan, who, having communicated their full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed as follows:

Article 1.—The high contracting parties agree as between themselves to respect their rights in relation to their insular possessions and insular dominions in the region of the Pacific Ocean, if there should develop between any of the high contracting parties a controversy arising out of any Pacific question and involving their said rights which is not satisfactorily settled by diplomacy and is likely to affect the harmonious accord now happily subsisting between them they shall invite the other high contracting parties to a joint conference to which the whole subject will be referred for consideration and adjustment.

Art. 2.—If the said rights are threatened by the aggressive action of any other Power the high contracting parties shall communicate with one another fully and frankly in order to arrive at an understanding as to the most efficient measures to be taken jointly or separately to meet the particular situation.

Art. 3.—This agreement shall remain in force for ten years from the time it shall take effect and after the expiration of said period it shall continue to be in force subject to the right of any of the high contracting parties to terminate it upon twelve months' notice.

Art. 4.—The agreement shall be ratified as soon as possible in accordance with the constitutional methods of the high contracting parties and shall take effect on the deposit of ratifications which shall take place at Washington and thing to do with the propagation of mah-jongg. The chief advantage of introducing the game to home, we thought, is that it would give people an excuse to go calling with little wooden boxes. We doubted, however, if after the first occasion or two the boxes would contain mah-jongg sets, especially if the invitation had come from the "B.Y.O.B." in the corner. In parched America, these letters imply, "Bring Your Own Beverages." We also thought that the quickest way to get those resigning through far from resigned Chinese delegates back into the Disarmament Conference would be to introduce mah-jongg in the ante-room between sessions.

The American-Oriental Game Company, however, has nothing to do with transplanting "sparrows." Mr. Park disclaims any interest either in the game or in the sooty gray quippers that hang around street corners at home, teaching us to otherwise well-beloved remarks to policemen. The program for the concern is to secure game birds in China and distribute them among the state game farms in America, where they are bred, released, and then shot at by fall hunters in the wood suits copied out of Vogue.

This is Mr. Park's third trip to China. On his last voyage home he was accompanied by 1,200 ring-necked pheasants, which, despite the Oriental Exclusion Act, have settled down comfortably in Ohio, California, and Massachusetts. We are not acquainted with ring-necked pheasants, though we have often eaten wring-necked chickens. Some of the birds, Mr. Park said, were raised by convicts in the Washington state prison, where 10,000 pheasants were bred last year and then released on parole. This is the first time that we heard of a prison raising anything but jailbirds. Besides being butchered to make a Washington holiday, the China pheasant does a public service by its fondness for collecting insects. In the Yakima Valley it distinguished itself by roughly handling the moths which infect the w. k. Oregon apple.

WE'LL CHOW THAT ONE

Another Chinese citizen for which Mr. Park has secured naturalization papers is the bamboo partridge, the bird whose photograph appears on the flag designated by mah-jongg enthusiasts as "One Bam." From Shanai Province he secured eighty "chukar partridges," distinguished for their propensity to take up furnished apartments on bare hills, populated as a rule only by rattlesnakes. Their habit of living in inaccessible places has already helped many an obese city banker to regain his girlish waist-line. Their numbers are already growing faster than a colony of Mormons. Mr. Park discovered one nest with twenty-eight infants in it, all doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

The secret of transplanting birds is to introduce them to the environment in which they were reared. In accordance with this principle, Mr. Park goes to Harbin for a large ring-necked pheasant likely to thrive in North and South Dakota and to Hongkong for the Franklin partridge, to re-educate in Alabama and Tennessee.

We have heard of people looking for buried treasure or a hidden will for twelve years, but we never before met anyone who looked for a bird that long. Mr. Park has spent that length of time trying to make a date with the turkey bustard and during this time he hopes to win the long delayed interview. The turkey bustard has a breast like a goose, a tail like a turkey, and a flavor that would immediately cause the president to issue another proclamation of Thanksgiving. Dead specimens have been seen in Chinese markets, but Mr. Park has never succeeded in meeting one with its breath intact. When he manages to secure a few, America will be introduced to a game-bird that will make the partridge look like a pampadoured blue-jay.

TOUGH EATING, THESE

On his last trip home, Mr. Park brought with him several specimens of the copper pheasant from Japan. Birds so beautiful that nobody thus far has had the heart to release them from the aviary. He also imported two pairs of the spotted deer that eat cakes presented to tourists in the streets of Nara and that figure at least once in every traveler's snapshot album. Unless something is done to corrupt their present amiability of character, hunters will be startled by having the deer come up and eat bullets out of their hand.

Game laws at home have become more lenient of late, Mr. Park declares, though no state permits the shooting of game birds for the market. Some states formerly prohibited even the keeping of game birds in captivity, but this provision has lately been modified. Birds raised in captivity can now be sold for the table. Raisers of migratory birds, however, must secure a permit from Washington, owing to a treaty on the subject between the United States and Canada.

Because it costs less to bring up birds in China than in the United States, and because ship space has been reduced from $85 to $95 a ton Mr. Park intends to start a game-bird farm in Shanghai sometime next year, with a view to importing the birds in large quantities. Every consignment, however, requires personal chaperonage, because otherwise the crew is likely to infect them with a fatal variety of throat trouble caused by too close contact with a butcher's cleaver.

We know very little about ornithology, but it seems to us that Mr. Park's immigration plan is a bird of an idea.

Rapid Vaccination Laurels Should Go To Dr. W. W. Peter

Vaccinations have been fast and furious in Shanghai for the past few weeks, but Dr. W. W. Peter, of the Council of Health Education, bids fair to take the honors for rapid-fire work along this line. A day or so ago Dr. Peter was called in to vaccinate the staff of the Great China Cotton Mill company, in Yangtzepoo. The staff numbers 305 and being a busy man Dr. Peter immediately mapped out an efficiency schedule. Each of the employees was first furnished, by the company, with a ticket, which was to be collected as evidence of his vaccination. Two men were assigned to gather these tickets. Two others were assigned to the task of baring the arms of the workers. Four were given the task of applying the cleanser to the arm areas to be scratched. Four more were to dress the arms after the operation and two checked over the lists to make sure that there were no omissions.

Having thus established an organization, Dr. Peter vaccinated the 305 employees at the rate of one every 12 seconds.

Peking Trams Are Under Fire; Want Contract Ended

(Asiatic News Agency)

Peking, Dec. 10.—In the name of residents and citizens of Peking, a long petition has been sent to the Ministry of the Interior concerning the construction of the proposed electric tramways in the metropolitan capital with Sino-French funds.

According to the petitioners, the concession which was granted to the defunct Banque Industrielle de Chine for the raising of funds in France for the construction of the Peking electric tramways in conjunction with the Chinese capitalists headed by Mr. Wong Ko-min, former Minister of Finance and Chinese President of the Banque and other prominent Chinese officials should be cancelled at once and its interest should be restored to the hands of the citizens of Peking especially as the French bank itself is in financial difficulties.

The citizens of Peking seek to cancel all the former arrangements for funds made through the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications in Shanghai after the failure of the Banque and in their petitions to the President and the Prime Minister, they demand full participation in the organization and administration of the Peking electric tramway company in the hope of shaking off the French interest altogether.

The charge made by the petitioners against the French interests is that since the commencement of the running of the electric tramways in Tientsin after the Boxer Rising of 1900, many innocent natives have been killed by the tramways without adequate compensation or penalty being administered to the Franco-Belgian company in Tientsin and they say that as Peking is the metropolitan capital of the Chinese Republic, no French or any other foreign capitalists should be permitted to get a controlling interest in the electric tramway company otherwise, they anticipate serious consequences. The petitioners say that they can secure $4,000,000 for the construction of the tramways at once without outside assistance.

Two men who had been stationed outside the house joined in the fight.

A special hearing was ordered yesterday by Assessor Ivanoff and Magistrate Loh in the Mixed Court for the case in which Mr. Kilmore, manager of the Wine and Gastronomy Society, is suing the Russian Assembly, 10 Kinkiang Road, for $71.05 alleged due for goods supplied. Plaintiff's petition for immediate judgment was refused.

Suit for Gold Yen 1,000, alleged due on a promissory note, was instituted in the Mixed Court yesterday by D. A. Malinovsky against I. Cohen. The plaintiff's claim, presented by Mr. F. J. Schull, was to the effect that the defendant had been indebted to the plaintiff in the amount of G. Yen 12,000. There was no wish to press for payment of the remaining Y. 11,000 as it was realised that the defendant was not in a position to make such a payment. The court gave judgment for the plaintiff for the Y. 1,000, to be paid in monthly installments of Y. 25. The balance, as defendant admitted liability, was to be repaid when possible.

Navy Beats Princeton Eleven

the gridiron battle recently between the United States Naval Academy from Annapolis and Princeton University, which had the unexpected result of a win for the Middies by a score of 13-0.

The victory at that stage of the football season put the Annapolis eleven at the apex of the American gridiron pyramid. They outplayed the Black and Orange team in everything but punting.
Their fast and varied attack and splendid work by the back field men caused Princeton's downfall.

In the second quarter the Navy blocked a kick behind Princeton's goal line and fell on it for a touchdown.

In the fourth period, King, Navy's big tackle, booted two goals.

Princeton's attack was never able to bother the Navy, while the middies gained on both ends and through the tackles almost at will.

The third quarter ended without scoring and without decided advantage. There were many exchanges of punts between Barchet and Von Garbig, the Princeton man generally having some advantage.

Princeton, with McPhee doing the tussling, tried many long passes, but did not succeed in holding the ball on any of them.
Barchet was tackled so hard that he had to retire, McKee taking his place.

King kicked two goals from placement in the final quarter, making the score 13 for the Navy,
while Princeton did not score.
Noyes and McKee gained in fine shape and Princeton resorted entirely to long passes when it got the ball, but never managed to connect.

JIMMY CLABBY, FORMER LEADING BOXER, FINISHED

Jimmy Clabby, rated at one time in his career as the cleverest boxer of his division in America but who has been in Australia for the past few years, has come to the end of his rope as a fighter.

Gossip from Sydney brings the word that Clabby was knocked out recently by Frank Burns, new middle weight champion of Australia, in the fifteenth round.

It is said that Burns, a youngster with a punch, did to the veteran Clabby what a name.
Burns dropped Clabby twice for the count of nine in the fifteenth round, and after that Referee Wallis stopped the contest.

Clabby's face was badly cut and puffed, as he seemed unable to defend himself. Most of Burns' heavy blows landed flush on Clabby's face, but the finishing punches caught him on the chin.
Clabby had never before been knocked out in Australia. Burns had every one of the fifteen rounds.

S'hai College To Play At Soochow Next Saturday

The Shanghai Baptist College association football team lost to the St. Francis Xavier's first division eleven of the Shanghai Football Association in a friendly match Saturday on the College field, by a score of 5-3. The game was described as fast and clean, with the teams evenly matched insofar as concerns actual playing, excepting that the Leaguers were a trifle more accurate in their shooting at the net.

On Friday the Shanghai
Varsity and the Middle School eleven will go to Soochow, where the Middle School will play Yates Academy and a second team of the Soochow University, while the Shanghai Varsity will go through its match in the regular East China Intercollegiate tournament against Soochow U.
The big game will commence at 1:30 p.m., Saturday.

Shanghai Baptist college has gone thus far through its schedule in the collegiate series undefeated, and not scored against. They have played three games, winning over Hangchow Christian College at 7-0, the National South Eastern University at 8-0, and St. John's University at 3-0. They have also been credited with a win over Nanking University by virtue of that eleven failing to present itself for the scheduled match last week. After the match with Soochow, the Shanghai college has but one more big eleven to meet in the tournament, the Nanyang University team.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BEATS S. A. S.; SCORE 36-23

Bowling Meets U. S. Navy At 5:30 This Evening At Rowing Club

The Shanghai Public School basketball five won their third game out of four played in the league schedule last night on the "Y" floor when they beat the fast little American School five by a score of 36-23.

The game was fast and cleverly played throughout with good interest furnished the spectators every minute. The American School played a light reserve due to Squires' illness, and lost some of its effectiveness in the exchange.
Fine team work by both teams featured the play, with the lighter Americans suffering much in the cover work from the range and strength of their opponents, though they compensated somewhat in speed.

Levis' and Johansson's accuracy in shooting featured the play for the Public School. The latter scored several long range shots that brought him much applause.
C. Squires was the greatest point getter for the Americans with honors divided evenly among the other players.

Tonight is an open date in the basketball league, though one friendly match is scheduled for the Rowing Club floor between the Bowling five and the American Navy team of the cruiser Wilmington. The match commences at 5:30 o'clock. Last night's score follows:

TOAST

As a matter of real importance can any reader kindly inform us what it is that Chinese cooks do with toast to produce the abominable travesty of that excellent breakfast concomitant that we all know but too well?

Most of the dishes beloved of foreigners Chinese cooks [for whose genius we have the greatest admiration] can and do learn to make admirably. But toast is seemingly beyond them. It may come to table outwardly hot and crisp, but two minutes later it has changed either to something of the consistency of damp felt, or to adamant.
The most careful directions may be given:
hold the bread in front of the fire, do not scrape it, do not lay it down but stand it on edge, do not begin toasting it till the last minute. But all in vain. What does cook do?—From the North-China Daily News, December 5, 1921.

Electricity in the Home

Do not blame the cook. He cannot help but make unpalatable toast over the top of a coal fire. The electric toaster solves the problem. Have it on the breakfast table, cut your own bread, make your own toast. The cost of current used for an ordinary household would be less than 11s. 0.90 per month.

China Wants Shantung Issue Settled On New Standard

(Eastern News Agency)
Peking, Dec. 11.—The following is the text of a communique announced today by the Central Government regarding the progress up to the present of the Shantung issue:

With regard to the question of Kiaochow Bay, China, since her second reply to Japan, has already announced the progress and circumstances of the question and has at the same time given instructions to the Chinese delegates to the Washington Conference, hoping to get the question settled amicably at the Conference by the Powers present.

According to reports from the Chinese delegates, however, both Great Britain and the United States having too many subjects to deal with, intend to have the Shantung question settled through their mediation and have already proposed to Japan and China for the opening of direct negotiations between the two countries concerned.

In the meantime, the British and the American Ministers to Peking also have of late forwarded to the Chinese Government messages to the similar effect from their home Governments. It will be remembered that the Peking Government, understanding that the Kiaochow Bay question is of great significance has handed its two reply notes to Japan, refuting the latter's proposals with a view to accomplishing the wishes and aspirations of the people, which shows that the Government hold the popular will in high esteem.

Be this as it may, Great Britain and the United States being the backbone of the Pacific Conference their views and contentions cannot be ignored. At first, Mr. Hughes, Secretary of State, and Mr. Balfour, the British delegate, said that they would refer to the Conference conditions for the restoration of Kiaochow to China, and at that time the Chinese delegates also convened a meeting of the Chinese advisors and the delegates of Shantung province, at which it was decided that the friendly advice given to China and Japan by Great Britain and the United States cannot be passed over.

Accordingly the Peking Government has despatched its instructions to the Chinese delegates as regards the Kiaochow Bay question to the following effect:

1. To settle the Shantung issue does not mean that China has recognized Japan's suzerainty over German rights and interests in whatever by any Treaty or Shantung.

2. The Chinese delegates are requested to base their debate on facts and shall not be bound by agreement.

The Peking Government made the Chinese delegates announce the above two points to the Washington Conference. At the meeting of the Conference held on November 30, the Chinese delegates placed the Shantung question before the delegations of the Powers, when Mr. Hughes, the Chairman of the Conference, declared:

"The Shantung issue has been left unsettled for a long time and indeed this is a hard nut to crack for both Japan and China. Now, the United States, in co-operation with Great Britain, wish to mediate between the two countries, establishing methods and regulation of the Sino-Japanese negotiations. At the meeting, besides the Japanese and Chinese delegates, Messrs. Macomb and Hill, representing the United States, and Messrs. Jordan and Romson, representing Great Britain, will be present. They will make a report to the Washington Conference of the result of the negotiations."

On December, the first meeting of the delegations of the four Powers, Great Britain, the United States, Japan, and China was held in connection with the Shantung issue, at which Mr. Hughes, Secretary of State, delivered an address of mediation, and then Mr. Balfour, the British delegate, supported Mr. Hughes' statement, followed by addresses in response made by the Japanese and Chinese delegates.

The Chinese delegate, in the course of his speech, expressed the hope that the Shantung issue would be settled fairly and amicably as it affects the fate of China and announced once more the two points above mentioned set forth in the instructions from the Peking Government, to which the Japanese delegates make no objection whatever.

The foregoing is the progress and circumstances since the Shantung issue was first presented to the Washington Conference, which finally referred the issue to the mediation on the part of Great Britain and the United States. The long and short of it is that inasmuch as the Kiaochow Bay question has long been unsettled, Great Britain and the United States have come to mediate.

In every parley between Japan and China the representatives of Great Britain and the United States take part. In case discussion cannot reach an agreement, it is to be referred back to the Washington Conference, thus meeting the wishes of China.

The Peking Government publishes these full particulars with the object of making clear the real state of the Sino-Japanese negotiations.

The Warwick Co.

"DOORMATS"

A successful second performance of "Doormats" was given by the Warwick Company last night to an appreciative audience.

It is a play which is more calculated to suit the palate of local theatergoers than the previous performances which have been rather too serious for Shanghai audiences. The "Modern Woman" is so much a feature of Shanghai, that any play written round her is sure to supply interest, and to afford amusement.

Mr. N. Thorpe Mayne was the pillar of the piece and made the most of his opportunities for dry humor, but the rest of the cast played up to him well, and the performance was nicely balanced and well staged.

The Warwick are giving Oscar Wilde's brilliant comedy "The Importance of Being Earnest," tonight.

Semenoff Slated As New Puppet In Vladivostok

(Dalla News Agency)

Harbin, Dec. 8.—A change in the Merkuloff government in Vladivostok is expected. A scheme is under way that the influential reactionary generals shall ask Merkuloff to appoint Semenoff as the puppet commander-in-chief.

It is rumored that the Merkuloffists have agreed in principle, while the Japanese have promised to be neutral. According to the opinion of the Semenoffists, the Consular Corps will raise no objection to the appointment of Semenoff, for the appointment will be made by Merkuloff.

The Japanese are carrying on negotiations with Semenoff and Kappel men simultaneously, for an attack on the Far Eastern Republic. While the Kappelites hesitate, the Semenoff men immediately agreed.

Merkuloff's secret agents continue to terrorize the population of the Maritime Province. The democratic representatives in the villages of Olga and Anuchino have been subjected to the most severe atrocities.

The Zemstvo Council has been entirely destroyed, while its members have been arrested and carried away to unknown places. Persons suspected of being in sympathy with the Partisans are shot mercilessly. The foodstuffs usually stored to meet the winter requirements have been commandeered from the peasants.

Finns Aid Bandits, Soviet Accusation

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Dec. 6.—The Commissary of Foreign Affairs has issued a statement that Finland is rendering support to the bandits who attack now and then Soviet Karelia. The Karelian Soviet Government has proofs showing that the attack upon Soviet Karelia is made in full accord with the attack upon Ukraine by Petliura's bands.

The Soviet Government has taken the necessary steps for the suppression of the bandits who are trying to escape to Finland. The Soviet Government has warned Finland that its attitude will compel the Soviet Government to urgently take such steps as will make attacks upon Russia impossible.

The Soviet Government states that while it observes the conditions of the agreement arrived at, Finland violates it; therefore, the responsibility for any undesirable consequences rests with the Finnish Government.

WHITES IN RUMANIA
Moscow, Dec. 6.—The Rumanian Foreign Office has informed the Commissary of Foreign Affairs of Soviet Russia that it has issued an urgent order for investigation into the organization of White bands in Rumania. The Rumanian Government reiterates that it has no intention of attacking Russia.

Bank Sues Employees For $100,000 Alleged Overdrawn

The Shanghai and Haitmen Bank, which recently filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Mixed Court and which has been sued by a number of depositors, has filed another petition, asking $100,000 from three employees who are alleged to have overdrawn that amount from the institution.

The petition sets forth that Zan Zung-tau, King Tsing-van and Koo Tien-fang, employed by the bank—which has been in existence less than six months—have drawn out funds aggregating the sum asked, and that this withdrawal is recorded in the books, which are now in the hands of Messrs. Seth. Mancoff and McClure, appointed by the court.

Robbers Kill Guard Raiding Macao Game

(Reuters' Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Dec. 12.—A gang of armed robbers yesterday entered a gambling-house in Macao, surprised the players and decamped with $400. The robbers shot dead an Indian guard and wounded an Indian constable who tried to prevent their escape.

On Making Sure

There is nothing like making sure where one's health is concerned. Good health is the best guarantee that life shall be a success. Now it is well-known that digestive disorders are the cause of more cases of ill-health than any other class of ailment. The digestive system is so extensive, so complex and so hard-worked, that its liability to derangement is not astonishing. Happily, however, many digestive ailments can be easily remedied. Happily, too, many digestions need never go wrong. You can make reasonably sure that your digestion will not fail you, even under trying conditions, if you get into the excellent way of taking Beecham's Pills. This "Wonderful Medicine"—as it has been called—does really work wonders with the digestive system. Beecham's Pills impart tone to the stomach, regulate the action of the liver and kidneys and gently stimulate the bowels into healthy activity. Get into the habit of making sure. Have recourse to Beecham's Pills at the first sign of digestive trouble. Make sure of your health by taking

Beecham's Pills.

Fordham-Villa Nova Score Not Yet Figured Out

score stood in favor of Villa Nova by a score of 19 to 14. With the ball on Villanova's 4-yard line, Conitt plunged through center for the necessary four yards. Villa Nova claimed that he had gone out of bounds in making this run. Mr. Von Kersberg, head linesman, who was on the side line stated that Conitt had not gone out of the bounds. Mr. Crawley, referee, refused to allow the touchdown, maintaining that on account of the extreme darkness and the crowd which had surged on the field, he had not seen the play. Then followed much talk and arguing, which did no good whatsoever. After about half an hour, it was announced that it had been agreed that the game would stand as a tie.

It is doubtful whether this ruling will stand. There seem to be only one logical solution to this problem. Fordham either won by a score of 20 to 19, or was beaten 19 to 14.

Over Half Million Taels Raised For American School

That a total of over half a million taels has been assured for the establishment of the new American School in Shanghai is shown by the final report of the Executive Committee of the recent drive, which met on Tuesday last to turn in the figures.

The amount raised by the local campaign was Tls. 166,346.70 and the entire expenses of the drive approximately only $3,000.

The figures, in round numbers, which represent the entire amount to be devoted to the building of the new institution are as follows:

Pledged by the Mission	Tls.
Boards in U. S.	210,000
Shanghai Campaign, fall of 1919	107,000
Special gift for Memorial dormitory	30,000
Shanghai Campaign, Oct. 1921	166,000
Total	513,000

The expenses of the local campaign included the engaging of an office and an office staff in the downtown district and their maintenance for a nine months' period and may thus be considered as remarkably low.

The committee in charge was composed of Messrs. W. T. Findley, chairman; K. J. Corkery, A. L. Hager, A. T. Harr, T. M. Knight, W. W. Lockwood, L. E. McLaughlin, William Morris, F. H. Meyers, J. T. Proctor, A. B. Rosenfeld, C. L. Seitz, W. R. Smith and P. P. Whitman.

Their report on the campaign subscriptions and the expenses attending the securing of these was as follows:

Women Sentenced To Long Jail Terms For Kidnapping Girl

Sentence of ten years each were imposed on two women by the Mixed Court yesterday after they had been convicted of abducting a sixteen-year-old Shanghai girl and selling her into a brothel in Mukden.

The girl, the daughter of an smash here, is alleged to have been lured into the clutches of the women when she went to a registry office to seek employment. Two men were also charged as implicated in the affair, one of them being the son of the man who owns the Mukden brothel in which the girl is now said to be living. The other man went to Mukden to try and effect her release after the other had sought police aid, but was unable to bring her back. The Court, Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Li, ordered the two men held until despatches can be sent to the Chinese and Japanese authorities in Mukden informing them of the circumstances and requesting the girl's return.

Charcoal Signs Traced On Bodies Of Patients Effect 'Cures.'

Paris, Oct. 29.—Signs traced with charcoal on the bodies of female patients, who were asked to believe that he had a supernatural healing power, failed to operate as the gods ordained and caused a six months' sentence this week for Georges Wisniewski, a faith healer, who won much reputation in Villejoint. The unctuous manner and the Oriental countenance, set in a frame of jet black hair and beard, of Wisniewski, who was said to have had similar experiences in New Orleans and other Southern cities in the United States, rapidly developed a large following for him. Scores of Tribuna from neighboring villages began to seek the Svengali-like assistance of this doctor, and reliable physicians saw their practice dwindling unless the law could be invoked to prevent treatments such as Wisniewski practiced.

Wisniewski seems to have made a specialty of treatments for migraines, which generally increased during the long drought which France knew last summer, but his "cures" were wrought entirely by suggestion and seances, where, while exposing the graceful contours of his clients' bodies, he had to liberally besmudge them and then send his patients home to take a bath, meanwhile exacting a prompt payment of his fee, which sometimes was as high as 50 francs a visit.

All went well, however, until one of his patients, whose illness was not imaginary, underwent the stripping and dawning process. Whether she lacked faith or whether Wisniewski mixed up his hieroglyphics was not revealed during the trial, but this patient died and the law's machinery was set in motion.

More than forty witnesses testified, only three of whom admitted they had benefited by Wisniewski's treatment, one of them a woman 70 years old, who declared he had cured her of approaching blindness by a series of prayerful attentions, but when she was asked to read a few large lines of print the poor old soul could not distinguish the letters.

Philippines Need No U. S. Protection Says Senate Head

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Dec. 12.—Mr. Manuel Quezon, addressing the Nationalist Party Convention, said:

"We do not want or need American protection. It is unworthy of a people clamoring for independence to ask help, protection or compensation. Only those ready to maintain their independence deserve freedom. If the Philippines do not relish living under masters, they must assume entire responsibility for the existence."

As Chairman of the platform committee he presented a draft platform, calling for complete independence, the creation of a new department of health and sanitation, the adoption of English as the official language, the conservation and exploitation of natural resources for an by the Filipinos, women's suffrage, the establishment of a complete plan for national defense.

Other minor planks covered such topics as Labor and capital, freedom of the judiciary, public schools, stricter Civil Service, etc. The Nationalists have so far not had a platform but Mr. Quezon's support is expected to ensure the adoption of this one. The Philippines say that the Associated Press message from Washington to the effect that President Harding would accept fully the Wood-Forbes report will not change their plans to send a mission to the United States to present the Filipino side.

River Police Man Is Accused Of Murder

A foreign member of the River Police is accused of having assaulted and killed a Chinese laodah on a boat in the Soochow Creek Monday evening.

According to the report turned in to the Municipal police the foreigner, whose name is given as Peterson, attacked the Chinese on board a rice boat on the Chapel side of the creek near the Stone Bridge Road. Following the assault he was seized and threatened by a crowd of Chinese, who drove him into the creek.

The man was captured, the report states, and turned over to the Chapel police and yesterday was handed over to the River Police officials. Details of the affair could not be obtained from the River Police last night.

Well-Known Soprano Will Sing At Astor

Patrons of the Astor House are promised a treat in the way of vocal music beginning next Monday when Miss Sophie Nyles, soprano of wide experience and enviable reputation, will entertain with lyric and operatic selections for guests of the city's premier hostelry. Miss Nyles who comes to Shanghai with flattering press notices from many cities on the Continent, is at present visiting with relatives here and it is anticipated that her brief appearance locally will prove a memorable feature of the present musical season.

Irish Treaty Not To Craig's Liking

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 12.—At a meeting of the Ulster Parliament Sir James Craig said that the position was grave. The Treaty, he asserted, had not fulfilled the pledges made to Ulster. He counselled prudence until after the debates at Westminster. Ulster was determined to stand by her ideals, and she would not swerve an inch.

The situation was ever so complicated as that created by the signing of a Treaty wherein Ulster was not included, and which she was not invited to sign.

Sir James Craig recommended an attitude of courage and optimism. If the people trusted the North-Irish Government, they once more would cautiously lead them towards victory.

Asia Banking Corporation

December 13, 1921
Spot bar silver was down 1-3d. and forward 1-4d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 66 1/2 cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 424.
The official Sterling rate this morning was unchanged from yesterday.

The Gold Dollar rate was raised to 75%, the Franc rate dropped to 930, and the Yen rate to 64%.

The market was fairly steady throughout the day, business in Sterling being done at rates varying between 3-7 and 3-7 1/4 for December, between 3-5 and 3-6 1/4 for January, and at 3-5 1/4 for February.

Gold Dollars were done between 75% and 76 for December, 74 1/2 to 74 1/4 for January, and 73 1/4 for February.

There was a strong demand for Francs today, there being good buyers at 920, but no sellers.

India bought silver in London yesterday and the Continent sold.

New York report their market as being firm, owing to the advance in the London-New York cross rate.

The general tendency of the silver market still seems downward.

Silk Duties Payable
At San Francisco

Tokio, Dec. 8.—San Francisco also has been designated as a port at which duties on imported silk can be paid on entry instead of at New York. According to advices received by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, the new plan of paying duty at Pacific Coast ports went into effect December 1, the trans-continental railroads having obtained the rate revision made necessary by the new arrangement. Hereafter silk shipments will pass through the Customs Houses at San Francisco and Seattle instead of the New York customs, as was the system followed formerly.

Silk shippers have been advised to make a notation on bills of lading "Clear at San Francisco" or "Clear at Seattle," as then there will be no customs formalities at destination, the railroad companies knowing how to act in accordance with the instructions.

What Does Japan Want in Siberia?

THE Japanese attitude on the subject of the evacuation of Siberia is steadily hardening. There are many signs of this. The reports from Dairen plainly indicate that the Japanese Delegation to the Dairen Conference is very much less inclined to talk about the evacuation of Siberia than it was a couple of months ago. Japanese tactics in this direction are quite obvious. Japan is discovering that she will be compelled to do a good deal of disgoring at Washington, and is playing a very forceful game here in order to make her position there seem stronger.

She is anxious to convey the impression that she holds a strong hand of trumps. That attitude doubtless explains one third of the significance of her crystallising attitude. Another third is explained by a belief, somewhat inconsistent with the foregoing display of strength, but not likely to be discerned by the diplomats at Washington, that pre-occupation at Washington leaves her a free hand to do as she pleases in Dairen. The last third is the fact that Japan believes she has the Far Eastern Republic quite within her grasp. This belief is strengthened by the fact that nobody seems to care what Japan is doing in Dairen, nobody has raised any Siberian issues at Washington, and the Chita Government has shown remarkable restraint. Even the patience of the Chita Government, however, is not inexhaustible, and it would not be surprising if, before long, the Chita Delegation withdrew from Dairen and the Chita Government took the destiny of the Far Eastern Republic in its own hands by resorting to forcible methods of settlement.

What, after all, does Japan want in Siberia? She professes only to want peaceful commercial activities: the open door and that sort of thing. It is difficult to believe that is all Japan wants. Were these the extent of her ambitions then she could achieve her end by withdrawing her troops immediately and unconditionally, in order that the Chita Government might throw the country open to foreign capital. Japanese included. The maintenance of Japanese troops in Siberia delays rather than hastens the day when free and unrestricted trade relations can be established. There is no use going into details over what is already without doubt very familiar ground to the readers of Far Eastern newspapers: namely that the only places where signs of disorder exist in the Far Eastern Republic are those where

These things are so well known that they do not require more than mention. One cannot avoid concluding that what Japan wants in Siberia is not merely trade opportunities, or the peace that will make this possible, but a military control of the country that will place Japan not only in a favored, but also in an unique position, which, in short, will render the Far Eastern Republic only a satellite of the Japanese Empire, with possibly the same fate at that which befell Korea. What Japan is proposing to accomplish immediately in the Far Eastern Republic is something like, only much more thorough and intolerable, than the Allied occupation of part of Germany. The Allied Occupation in Germany is self evident and provided for by the Treaty of Peace. The attempted Japanese occupation of the Far Eastern Republic is neither comprehensible nor justifiable. Japan has absolutely no debts to recover from the Far Eastern Republic, yet she is menacing it by armed force. She is also interrupting its economic life and disorganising its political institutions.

There can be no excuse for all this unless Japan can establish the fact that she has legitimate claims against the Far Eastern Republic and this she cannot do. Japan's whole conduct with reference to the Far Eastern Republic is incomprehensible except on the hypothesis that she has made up her mind to cast to the winds even the most microscopic scruples of international morality that her friends credit her with and to indulge frankly in a game of grab Japan's action in Siberia, her daily transgressions of every rule of conventional etiquette between States; her utterly unscrupulous application of physical force, barefaced and unblushing is so grotesquely inconsistent with her smirking acquiescence at Washington to what the other Powers are asking from her with respect to China, that it is difficult not to conclude that in return for acquiescence to some Chinese points, Japan is to be allowed a free hand in Siberia.

The friends of Japan appear prepared to wink at her methods in Siberia. They cannot surely realise what they are virtually promising. They are promising themselves a repetition of the story of Korea, which means that so far as trade is concerned they will have reached the limit of their expansion in Siberia. Since the Japanese protectorate has been established over Korea, foreign trade with that down trodden country has practically been wiped out. It will be the same if Japan establishes permanently any sort of commercial or economic control over the Far Eastern Republic. It would be still more so if, by some reverse of fortune, Japan were to manage to establish something in the nature of a political control. But something less than political control is sufficient. Let Japan with the connivance or the active assistance of the Washington Powers firmly establish herself in the Maritime Province as she has already established herself at Vladivostok and Dairen, and it is an infallible certainty that the resources of Siberia, vastly greater than anything that Korea ever had or can have to offer, will be doomed solely to the exploitation of Japan.

With Japan controlling the railway termini, and her myrmidons keeping Mongolia and certain parts of Manchuria in a state of turmoil, thereby making other exits from Siberia impracticable, the natural lines of economic flow will be artificially diverted in favor of Japan, which state of things if ever established cannot be "ally accepted" either by the Far Eastern Republic or by China. Refusal to accept Japanese dictation in this matter can only mean one thing, namely a disturbance of the peace of the Far East to secure which the Washington Conference was called. Perhaps the special mission from the Far Eastern Republic that is now in Washington may be able to convince the Conference of the error of its ways. If not, the question, "Peace or War East of Balkan?" may not take a very long time before it receives a most acute answer.

French Fear German Coup In Morocco

By the MARQUIS DE SEGONZAC

Paris, Oct. 22.—Twenty-four thousand men slain was the initial cost borne by Spain of the war which broke out in Morocco last July. The army's equipment was captured by the Moors.

General Lague, who has been Minister of War in several Cabinets, declared that never in over four hundred years of colonial history has Spain suffered such a colossal disaster. The loss of Cuba and the Philippines was nothing compared to the losses Spain sustained in six weeks' fighting in Morocco. It is estimated that over 130,000 soldiers were slain.

France is vitally interested in the outcome of this struggle, for should Spain fail to reconquer the zone, Germany is sure to establish herself there. France cannot see Germany gain a foothold so near to her own colony.

The immediate cause of the revolt was a dispute between the principal Moorish chief, Abdel-Krim and General Sylvestre. The insulted chieftain raised a small army within a few days and threw his forces against the advanced Spanish positions at Igueriben and Annual July 18. In a few hours the revolt had blazed up in the whole Spanish zone, even up to the outskirts of Melilla.

General Sylvestre was in command of 24,000 men, of whom 3,784 were native troops. The Spanish army had a staff of experienced officers, was fairly well equipped with artillery, machine guns, aeroplanes and automobile cannons. Their defensive positions were excellent.

Within forty-eight hours this army was practically destroyed and its equipment captured by the Moors. Two days later Melilla was besieged. Three small detachments put up a heroic resistance at Nador, Selouane and Mont-Arruit, but by August 15 the last of these had been forced to surrender.

In a few days Spain had lost territory eighty miles in depth which had taken twelve years to conquer. The conquest had cost millions of dollars and thousands of lives.

The Moroccan army grew from a few thousand to nearly a hundred thousand in a few days. They were well equipped with artillery. By the middle of August they had concentrated 62,000 men and 144 guns near Melilla. The fact that they were not particularly well trained and had a large amount of defective munitions was the only thing which saved Spain from being driven out of Morocco entirely.

When General Berenguer arrived in Melilla in August he found only 200 soldiers in the city, and of these thirty-five were armed.

This disaster is the direct result of Spain's absolute lack of knowledge of colonial politics coupled with faulty military strategy. Spain is not a colonising power. Her whole history shows merely a series of brilliant conquests followed by an incompetent attempt at colonisation and administration. Before long this in turn led to utter disaster and the loss of one valuable colony after another.

The Spanish Government has sent many brilliant generals to Morocco during the last ten years, but in each case they proved to be poor administrators, lacking in the rudiments of colonial government.

Although in command of a poorly equipped army and in spite of orders not to move, General Sylvestre had the folly and unpardonable temerity to order an advance. This was followed by the disaster at Annual. Then came the insane operation of abandoning the line of Kert in order to establish the army on positions which for the most part were far removed from any water supply. The third mistake was made when native troops of doubtful loyalty were placed in advanced defensive positions, from which they easily deserted to the enemy.

When news of the disaster reached Madrid the Spanish press immediately broke out in a tirade against France, declaring that French agents had incited the natives against the Spanish army. This accusation alone proves how densely ignorant the Spaniards are of Moroccan conditions. France could not raise up a rebellion in the Spanish zone without running the risk of a revolt in her own neighboring colony.

All Europeans are regarded by the Moroccans in the same light: they are infidels and interlopers. They have no right to colonise in a Moslem country. Therefore any advance of colonisation in Morocco the Moors consider a new form of crusade. They will oppose France and Spain alike, and revolt whenever a favorable opportunity is offered.

FIELD FOR GERMAN AGENTS

The Spanish zone in Morocco was a marvelous field of action for German agents during the World War. Germans aided and financed four serious revolts which broke out between 1915 and 1918. The agents received official recognition from the German Government in 1918. Germany wants to get control of Morocco—history shows this clearly.

Spain now has a large, well equipped army in Morocco under General Berenguer. He is a brilliant general. His army has just taken the offensive, but will he find before him a compact army and a serious objective?

The danger is that the Rifains will disperse. Moroccan armies are always nebulous. Although Abdel-Krim is supposed to have 7,000 men which he trains and pays regularly the other 90,000 are only human dust. They will scatter at the first strong blow delivered by the Spanish army.

Then will come the long, difficult task of waging guerilla warfare in an inhospitable country with little water supply. It might take years.

When reconquered, Spain must put the zone on a sound economic basis. She must administer it well and exploit it, or else Germany will stretch forth her hands to grasp it. This France cannot regard with complacency.

A group of German capitalists tried to get control of Morocco in 1909 when they financed the famous native chief Raisuli and planned to create a great chartered company to pacify and exploit the Spanish zone for the benefit of German pocketbooks. The plot was discovered and ended in total failure.

But Germany is tenacious, and German prospectors camouflaged as Hollanders have continued to study the rich mining regions of this country. Should Spain fall in the colonial task which she has assumed since the Treaty of Algeiras in accepting the heavy mission of putting northern Morocco in a good economic position, we shall see Germany offer Spain immigrants, engineers and officers.

Germany will be our neighbor. We must prevent it.

In order to maintain life rest is essential. This brings us to a consideration of the rest room or bed-room. Economise if you must on the frame of the bed, but buy the best spring, the best mattress and the best pillows you can afford. Single beds are much more desirable in the long run than the old-fashioned double bed.

While not necessary, a room for recreation or social intercourse is highly desirable. This is fulfilled in the modern living-room or library where a couple's means are limited and where needed recreation must be taken right at home. A room fitted with a table and several comfortable chairs, either in good quality of mission or need, and a convenient book shelf may properly be considered in the beginning of a home.

The dining room may be an after consideration. It may be combined with the living room or library; a breakfast nook in the corner of the kitchen may be substituted for it or it may be a delightful room all by itself.

Beginning The Home

BY LORETTA C. LYNCH

An Authority on All Matters of Household Management.

Every normal girl dreams of the day when she shall have a home of her own with the dearest husband in the world. And it is unfortunate that many of our girls only begin to make preparations for that home shortly before the marriage.

When considering what one should have for the beginning of a home the necessities of life should be taken into consideration. First there is air, without which we cannot exist for even a few moments. Then there is food. Next comes clothing, and lastly shelter.

A room or many rooms should be considered first from the standpoint of air-ventilation. Next we should consider the implements necessary for preparing the food upon which life itself depends. This brings us to a consideration of the kitchen. Too many unthinking beginners put too much of their money into the ornate parlor furniture while the

What Does Japan Want In Siberia?

THE Japanese attitude on the subject of the evacuation of Siberia is steadily hardening. There are many signs of this. The reports from Dairen plainly indicate that the Japanese Delegation to the Dairen Conference is very much less inclined to talk about the evacuation of Siberia than it was a couple of months ago. Japanese tactics in this direction are quite obvious. Japan is discovering that she will be compelled to do a good deal of disorganizing at Washington, and is playing a very forceful game here in order to make her position there seem stronger.

She is anxious to convey the impression that she holds a strong hand of trump. That attitude doubtless explains one third of the significance of her crystallising attitude. Another third is explained by a belief, somewhat inconsistent with the foregoing display of strength, but not likely to be discovered by the diplomats at Washington, that pre-occupation at Washington leaves her a free hand to do as she pleases in Dairen. The last third is the fact that Japan believes she has the Far Eastern Republic quite within her grasp. This belief is strengthened by the fact that nobody seems to care what Japan is doing in Dairen, nobody has raised any Siberian issues at Washington, and the Chita Government has shown remarkable restraint. Even the patience of the Chita Government, however, is not inexhaustible, and it would not be surprising if, before long, the Chita Delegation withdrew from Dairen and the Chita Government took the destiny of the Far Eastern Republic in its own hands by resorting to forcible methods of settlement.

What, after all, does Japan want in Siberia? She professes only to want peaceful commercial activities: the open door and that sort of thing. It is difficult to believe that is all Japan wants. Were these the extent of her ambitions then she could achieve her end by withdrawing her troops immediately and unconditionally, in order that the Chita Government might throw the country open to foreign capital. Japan included. The maintenance of Japanese troops in Siberia delays rather than hastens the day when free and unrestricted trade relations can be established. There is no use going into details over what is already without doubt very familiar ground to the readers of Far Eastern newspapers: namely that the only places where signs of disorder exist in the Far Eastern Republic are those where

These things are so well known that they do not require more than mention. One cannot avoid concluding that what Japan wants in Siberia is not merely trade opportunities, or the peace that will make this possible, but a military control of the country that will place Japan not only in a favored, but also in an unique position, which, in short, will render the Far Eastern Republic only a satellite of the Japanese Empire, with possibly the same fate at that which befell Korea. What Japan is proposing to accomplish immediately in the Far Eastern Republic is something like, only much more thorough and intolerable, than the Allied occupation of part of Germany. The Allied Occupation in Germany is self evident and provided for by the Treaty of Peace. The attempted Japanese occupation of the Far Eastern Republic is neither comprehensible nor justifiable. Japan has absolutely no debts to recover from the Far Eastern Republic, yet she is menacing it by armed force. She is also interrupting its economic life and disorganising its political institutions.

There can be no excuse for all this unless Japan can establish the fact that she has legitimate claims against the Far Eastern Republic and this she cannot do. Japan's whole conduct with reference to the Far Eastern Republic is incomprehensible except on the hypothesis that she has made up her mind to cast to the winds even the most microscopic scruples of international morality that her friends credit her with and to indulge frankly in a game of grab. Japan's action in Siberia, her daily transgressions of every rule of conventional etiquette between States, her utterly unscrupulous application of physical force, barefaced and unblushing is so grotesquely inconsistent with her smirking acquiescence at Washington to what the other Powers are asking from her with respect to China, that it is difficult not to conclude that in return for acquiescence to some Chinese points, Japan is to be allowed a free hand in Siberia.

The friends of Japan appear prepared to wink at her methods in Siberia. They cannot surely realise what they are virtually promising. They are promising themselves a repetition of the story of Korea, which means that so far as trade is concerned they will have reached the limit of their expansion in Siberia. Since the Japanese protectorate has been established over Korea, foreign trade with that down trodden country has practically been wiped out. It will be the same if Japan establishes permanently any sort of commercial or economic control over the Far Eastern Republic. It would be still more so if, by some reverse of fortune, Japan were to manage to establish something in the nature of a political control. But something less than political control is sufficient. Let Japan with the connivance or the active assistance of the Washington Powers firmly establish herself in the Maritime Province as she has already established herself at Vladivostok and Dairen, and it is an infallible certainty that the resources of Siberia, vastly greater than anything that Korea ever had or can have to offer, will be doomed solely to the exploitation of Japan.

With Japan controlling the railway termini, and her myrmidons keeping Mongolia and certain parts of Manchuria in a state of turmoil, thereby making other exits from Siberia impracticable, the natural lines of economic flow will be artificially diverted in favor of Japan, which state of things if ever established cannot be "dially accepted" either by the Far Eastern Republic or by China. Refusal to accept Japanese dictation in this matter can only mean one thing, namely a disturbance of the peace of the Far East to secure which the Washington Conference was called. Perhaps the special mission from the Far Eastern Republic that is now in Washington may be able to convince the Conference of the error of its ways. If not, the question, "Peace or War East of Baikal?" may not take a very long time before it receives a most acute answer.

French Fear German Coup In Morocco

By the MARQUIS DE SEGONZAC

Paris, Oct. 22.—Twenty-four thousand men slain was the initial cost borne by Spain of the war which broke out in Morocco last July. The army's equipment was captured by the Moors.

General Lague, who has been Minister of War in several Cabinets, declared that never in over four hundred years of colonial history has Spain suffered such a colossal disaster. The loss of Cuba and the Philippines was nothing compared to the losses Spain sustained in six weeks' fighting in Morocco. It is estimated that over 130,000 soldiers were slain.

France is vitally interested in the outcome of this struggle, for should Spain fail to reconquer the zone, Germany is sure to establish herself there. France cannot see Germany gain a foothold so near to her own colony.

The immediate cause of the revolt was a dispute between the principal Moorish chief, Abdelkrim and General Sylvestre. The insulted chieftain raised a small army within a few days and threw his forces against the advanced Spanish positions at Igueriben and Annual July 18. In a few hours the revolt had blazed up in the whole Spanish zone, even up to the outskirts of Melilla.

General Sylvestre was in command of 24,000 men, of whom 3,784 were native troops. The Spanish army had a staff of experienced officers, was fairly well equipped with artillery, machine guns, aeroplanes and automobile cannons. Their defensive positions were excellent.

Within forty-eight hours this army was practically destroyed and its equipment captured by the Moors. Two days later Melilla was besieged. Three small detachments put up a heroic resistance at Nador, Selouane and Mont-Arruit, but by August 15 the last of these had been forced to surrender.

In a few days Spain had lost territory eighty miles in depth which had taken twelve years to conquer. The conquest had cost millions of dollars and thousands of lives.

The Moroccan army grew from a few thousand to nearly a hundred thousand in a few days. They were well equipped with artillery. By the middle of August they had concentrated 62,000 men and 144 guns near Melilla. The fact that they were not particularly well trained and had a large amount of defective munitions was the only thing which saved Spain from being driven out of Morocco entirely.

When General Berenguer arrived in Melilla in August he found only 200 soldiers in the city, and of these thirty-five were armed.

This disaster is the direct result of Spain's absolute lack of knowledge of colonial politics coupled with faulty military strategy. Spain is not a colonising power. Her whole history shows merely a series of brilliant conquests followed by an incompetent attempt at colonisation and administration. Before long this in turn led to utter disaster and the loss of one valuable colony after another.

The Spanish Government has sent many brilliant generals to Morocco during the last ten years, but in each case they proved to be poor administrators, lacking in the rudiments of colonial government.

Although in command of a poorly equipped army and in spite of orders not to move, General Sylvestre had the folly and unpardonable temerity to order an advance. This was followed by the disaster at Annual. Then came the insane operation of abandoning the line of Kert in order to establish the army on positions which for the most part were far removed from any water supply. The third mistake was made when native troops of doubtful loyalty were placed in advanced defensive positions, from which they easily deserted to the enemy.

When news of the disaster reached Madrid the Spanish press immediately broke out in a tirade against France, declaring that French agents had incited the natives against the Spanish army. This accusation alone proves how densely ignorant the Spaniards are of Moroccan conditions. France could not raise up a rebellion in the Spanish zone without running the risk of a revolt in her own neighboring colony.

All Europeans are regarded by the Moroccans in the same light: they are infidels and interlopers. They have no right to colonise in a Moslem country. Therefore any advance of colonisation in Morocco the Moors consider a new form of crusade. They will oppose France and Spain alike, and revolt whenever a favorable opportunity is offered.

FIELD FOR GERMAN AGENTS

The Spanish zone in Morocco was a marvelous field of action for German agents during the World War. Germans aided and financed four serious revolts which broke out between 1915 and 1918. The agents received official recognition from the German Government in 1918. Germany wants to get control of Morocco—history shows this clearly.

Spain now has a large, well equipped army in Morocco under General Berenguer. He is a brilliant general. His army has just taken the offensive, but will he find before him a compact army and a serious objective?

The danger is that the Rifains will disperse. Moroccan armies are always nebulous. Although Abdelkrim is supposed to have 7,000 men which he trains and pays regularly, the other 90,000 are only human dust. They will scatter at the first strong blow delivered by the Spanish army.

Then will come the long, difficult task of waging guerrilla warfare in an inhospitable country with little water supply. It might take years.

When reconquered, Spain must put the zone on a sound economic basis. She must administer it well and exploit it, or else Germany will stretch forth her hands to grasp it. This France cannot regard with complacency.

A group of German capitalists tried to get control of Morocco in 1909 when they financed the famous native chief Raisuli and planned to create a great chartered company to pacify and exploit the Spanish zone for the benefit of German pocketbooks. The plot was discovered and ended in total failure.

But Germany is tenacious, and German prospectors camouflaged as Hollanders have continued to study the rich mining regions of this country. Should Spain fall in the colonial task which she has assumed since the Treaty of Algeiras in accepting the heavy mission of putting northern Morocco in a good economic position, we shall see Germany offer Spain immigrants, engineers and officers.

Germany will be our neighbor. We must prevent it.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS

Mrs. Asquith tells, with a good deal of amusement, the story of her attendance at Etón the other day where Mr. Asquith was giving a lecture. She arrived rather late, after her husband had begun to speak, and a small boy near the door did not recognise her.

"How long has Mr. Asquith been speaking?" she whispered to him.

"Oh, about ten minutes," he answered, and then added, in a reassuring manner: "But you have not missed much!"

The editor hung down the manuscript, and called loudly on printers' devils, and such strange creatures, to witness his disgust. The poet stood meekly in the corner, as the storm raged on.

The poet nodded.
"I see," he said wearily. "Something wrong with the meter"

Beginning The Home

BY LORETTA C. LYNCH
An Authority on All Matters of Household Management.

Every normal girl dreams of the day when she shall have a home of her own with the dearest husband in the world. And it is unfortunate that many of our girls only begin to make preparations for that home shortly before the marriage.

When considering what one should have for the beginning of a home the necessities of life should be taken into consideration. First there is air, without which we cannot exist for even a few moments. Then there is food. Next comes clothing, and lastly shelter.

A room or many rooms should be considered first from the standpoint of air-ventilation. Next we should consider the implements necessary for preparing the food upon which life itself depends. This brings us to a consideration of the kitchen. Too many unthinking beginners put too much of their money into the ornate parlor furniture while the kitchen lacks an adequate cooking pot or a delightfully sharp knife.

In order to maintain life rest is essential. This brings us to a consideration of the rest room or bedroom. Economise if you must on the frame of the bed, but buy the best spring, the best mattress and the best pillows you can afford. Single beds are much more desirable in the long run than the old-fashioned double bed.

While not necessary, a room for recreation or social intercourse is highly desirable. This is fulfilled in the modern living-room or library where a couple's means are limited and where needed recreation must be taken right at home. A room fitted with a table and several comfortable chairs, either in good quality of mission or need, and a convenient book shelf may properly be considered in the beginning of a home.

The dining room may be an after consideration. It may be combined with the living room or library; a breakfast nook in the corner of the kitchen may be substituted for it or it may be a delightful room all by itself.

Not Always

She: "Enthusiasm is contagious." He: "Not always. I've courted girls who didn't seem to share my enthusiasm in the least."
